

Love-Light-Circle of Jesus Christ
12-15-07 Nuremberg
Christmas Celebration

As a Servant of the Lord, may I, RAPHAEL, the bearer of the divine Love, speak to you. I have brought many angels, as well as your guardian angels, with me. And I greet you all in their names as well, and I am full of joy here in your circle. Do you hear? The angels are fervently singing a song for the honor of GOD. A glorious choir resounds and your souls are singing along.

I ask you now, My brothers and sisters, open your hands and receive the gift from Me, which I have brought for you. In your hands I draw a holy cross. It will help you to carry your cross on earth with more ease.

Sense how the sign of this cross is embossed in your hands luminously. I bow before your task to help carry the cross of this world, and I bow before our LORD and FATHER, WHO is in the midst of us, and we glorify HIM.

All angels that are present with you support and steady you and give you their love. I, Raphael, make way now for GOD and am in fervent adoration of HIM.

Revelation from the level of Love

I, your Primordial FATHER, Am now before you, My beloved. Let us hasten through the spheres together to the temple of mercy, where you have gathered time and again during the Christmas season in order to receive mercy in your hearts and then to carry it to Earth. However, this time, My beloved, My reason is a different one.

My sons and daughters, you see from the signs of time the gravity of these times, which is effective right now. However, by this love-mercy I wish to somewhat soften this grave time. So do come! You see the temple before you, dipped in golden light and supported by pillars, which reflect My light, yes, which thousand-fold mirrors this light back to you. Amid the temple is the well of mercy, which pours itself across all spheres.

Gather around Me as My children and be near to Me, as you once were in heaven. My heart is so big that you can all rest there and none of My children – hear My humor – can steal your place away from you. I envelop you in My love, and place My Father-arms around you.

The light from My primordial sun radiates into your hearts and links with the light of your inner being. This light was covered up until now, but now, My sons and daughters, it shall shine brightly – if you are willing – for I need strong instruments, strong Messengers of Light on this earth. And this is why I want to give you as much light from My fullness of grace as you can absorb, considering your radiation.

Do you hear the heartbeat of My love? My child, I love you! And see how this heartbeat is at the same time the rhythm of the entire creation? When you vibrate in love, this rhythm radiates over you and touches everything on earth that has come out of balance. However, in order for you to take part in My irradiating power, I ask you to prepare yourselves in the coming days, all the way to the Holy Night. Even during the Holy Night, may every one of you withdraw for an hour and open his or her heart for the heaven in you – if you are willing. Then, when you lie down to rest, I will lead you to this spiritual place once again, to this temple of mercy.

May the Holy Night be a celebration for you, one you will keep in your hearts for as long as you walk this earth; for it shall be kept in your memory and not be erased by your sleep. That is why I am asking you: "Please, prepare yourselves!"

From here you see far away your planet earth. You see the luminous cross surrounding the earth with its cross bar and which horizontal bar fashions the heavenly ladder, the steps leading straight to My FATHERHEART. You see the dark clouds forming all over the earth. Yet again and again, in between them your lights appear, My messengers of light, which you have lit by your thoughts of blessing, of love, by sending forth peace. You see at the same time how weakly these lights are burning.

Do you see the fine lines? They are golden threads stretched between you, golden threads by which My love streams, golden threads, which you have brought with you from the heavens, linking you together for the one commission: Let there be peace and light on earth. However, the light shines only weakly still. And so that these lights may turn into blazing lights, I want to call you together on Holy Night, with all other messengers of light, in the temple of mercy. And according to the capacity with which you can absorb it, I want to fill you with My mercy.

Love is and sometimes has to be strict, but mercy turns toward every child in a kind of benevolence that, here in your human garment and deep within you, you can only perceive as pale reflection (of mercy). I want to increase this mercy in you. Then you will walk the earth with different eyes. But you will also perceive and understand the pain of creation and My children. However, do not be fearful; for this sensing is a divine gift I give to you; and a divine gift is spiritual sensing and not the feeling of human beings!

Your understanding of the correlation of the entire creation will be different than it is today. You will see with a clarity, how one (thing or condition) is dependant on another, which you cannot even fathom today. When violent downpours devastate entire regions, you will sense, ahead of time, that bad weather is brewing and that your mercy will be needed. At the same time you will know the reason for these dark clouds. You stop your daily routines. Before your very eyes, you will see a weather map, as you often see it in your media, and you will sense the inclement weather in its power and wrath of destruction.

It was not only the human race that caused the climatic catastrophes, those who are against me play a role in it as well, for they want to destroy the earth so that it can no longer serve as a "school for the spirit" nor be part of the redemptive process. And you recognize the Power of Darkness with a clarity and see how they all work together, and this so as to bring the most disservice to My children.

In a flash, you will see the correlations, as well as the causes set by man, like the stripping and clearing of the rain forests of the earth, and now you will enter in as My messengers of light in action. My holy power, My might is in you in its fullness since the Holy Night that is upon you, and you will radiate My love-mercy into all these events.

You will also touch the elements that became forces and will soothe them powerfully by My blessing and the love, both of which are working within you powerfully. And those who are against Me you will touch with My mercy. Do not be fooled, even when they abuse (or:insult) you, which surely will happen! Meet this by sending love and by blessing them. By doing so, you will cause understanding in the hearts of man about the causes they have sown. And it will cause them to rethink.

This is but a small excerpt of what you will be facing in the coming times. You are no longer weak humans, but you are My sons and daughters to whom I – if you are willing – want to bring gifts in the upcoming Holy Night, gifts of My fullness, gifts of love and mercy. Prepare for it, expand your consciousness and look forward to the sanctified night!

Amen.

Revelation from the level of Mercy

My beloved, My heavenly peace has spread out in you and in the entire creation. In the stillness of the night, heaven's door opens, and a bright light appears, enveloping everything in a heavenly assurance.

I Am this divine light. I your FATHER have entered the earth, and My splendor illuminates everything. All of creation is immersed in My love-mercy. Verily, I say unto you: "Everything is encompassed by My love-mercy." Therefore, open wide your hearts, for I want to fill them in order to make you strong. I want to fill you in order to make you whole. I want to fill you in order to turn you into brightly shining messengers of light. May you therefore walk creation by My commission and by blessing (it) continually, as I have done when I walked this earth.

Just as I have blessed the shepherds that hastened to My manger, so you should bless your brothers and sisters, as well as all life, all being, without ceasing; for creation needs My blessing so that My heavenly peace can spread out lastingly on this earth; so that My love-mercy can envelope and penetrate all that does not vibrate in My order; so that everything returns to the divine order.

May you envelop with love-mercy all the earth's changes and especially their effects, which will now appear with ever new variations. Like a navigational light you should walk this earth. And may the fire radiate from you like the star of Bethlehem did for the three wise men.

My beloved, look forward to a time when you walk this earth while closely linked with Me; for I AM truly born in every one of you! When you become conscious of this and repeatedly enter into the temple of Mercy, I will give My powers to you as it is appropriate for you in accordance with My will. Be My instruments of peace, be My instruments of love, and be My instruments of mercy; for by this you will heal the entire creation!

The light, which is My light, which streams forth from your hearts will stream forth into the infinite widths and into the darkness! Your brothers and sisters who are exploring the darkness will long for My love and mercy. You shall show them that this earth is truly a place where My love-light illumines the darkness.

This means that those whose eyes and hearts had remained closed to My love for such a long time will slowly be able to open them. First they will open them only a small crack because they cannot yet bear the light. But then their eyes and hearts will become more and more open. My love-mercy will radiate more and more powerfully, and, thus, the miracle of redemption, which began 2,000 years ago with My birth, will become complete.

All of you who are in this room, but also all My messengers of light who are serving Me, are helping Me to bring this miracle to its completion. Therefore, My beloved, prepare carefully for the Holy Night that lies before you. For I say unto you: In that night the bells which proclaim the homecoming will ring especially loudly, and the bulwark of the darkness will tremble from the sound of these bells; and all will know what the bells are tolling.

Receive Me in that night, Me your heavenly FATHER and BROTHER, JESUS CHRIST, and walk with Me at My hand from then on, united with Me throughout your further life. My Christmas blessing spreads out about you, and I stand before every one of you and place My hand upon your head. Sense how My love-mercy takes hold of you and allow it to stream through you, let it continue to stream to Mother Earth and into the entire creation! I love you, and My Christmas peace is with you.

Amen.

Revelation from the level of Wisdom

Let peace come to Earth and to the spheres near the Earth. And peace will be. I, My beloved sons and daughters, have initiated this peace process 2,000 years ago, and many of you were at My side with burning hearts even then.

Even if it does not yet look like peace when you look upon the world, the light will irrevocably be victorious, nevertheless. Every one of you will become a bringer of peace, if you are willing, more so even than he or she already was in the past. You should be like the candles in the Christmas story you have read, which became light and spread its bright glow.

Every human being can be likened to a candle whose wick is still burning. Some day I will kindle all of them, and those who have given Me their yes are already burning. I have called you My radiant sons and daughters, and I will lead you more deeply into this consciousness, so that you may truly feel – in your inner being – what it means to be equipped with this might, this radiance, and peace.

If you are willing, I will turn you into blazing flames that light up their surroundings, which of course causes you to become targets for the darkness. And while you are unafraid of the darkness, you signal to those who are seeking: “Within you too burns this flame, let God your FATHER kindle it so that we, too, will become more and more and so that, together, we can spread our light on this earth.”

I want to and will cause you to become such fearless light bearers when you will give Me your yes.

Amen.

A Word from the level of Patience

I, your Lord and SAVIOR JESUS CHRIST, Am still in your midst, and once again My hands are spread out so that I can let My power, My blessing, and My salvation flow to you. Open your hearts wide and go forth, and bring My light among the human beings! Spread My blessing, for this you have come to Earth.

Amen.

Revelation from the level of Justice

Fear not; for today your SAVIOR was born to you!, thus it is written, My beloved fold, and I say unto you: “The hour of this event indicates the most meaningful hour of mankind’s span of earthly time.”

GOD, your LORD and CREATOR, the PRIMORDIAL LIGHT, the all-encompassing and all-penetrating LOVE, begot Itself into a human being. It was not I alone, however. I had many beings of light in My following, who came down with Me in order to initiate and fulfill whatever was to be fulfilled.

Since then much of your human time has passed, and much was accomplished, through many of you and through many who are scattered throughout the earth, on other continents, in other countries, and in other communities.

And now, My beloved – as I always tell you – the time is drawing near, which is being called the ‘time of reaping’ again and again. What does mankind reap? Only that which man has sown, and whatever is not part of the law of love.

You My faithful fold, however, are walking this earth in order to become conscious in this time, whatever it is that lies within you and whoever you are. And this, My sons and daughters, I cannot try often enough to make clear to you: You are like Me light and purest love. Consider it My beloved and go into the coming days in this spirit!

Stay awake and pray, and by doing so cause many of your brothers and sisters who are full of longing to awaken as well!

Amen.

Ending Words from the level of Love

My beloved sons and daughters, you are carrying a light in your hands as symbol of the light that you are supposed to spread here on Earth. I your PRIMORDIAL FATHER place now My holy blessing and consecration into this light. May you light this candle in the Holy Night as well, and may you link with Me and be unified with Me in a heartfelt and devoted way.

This is My deepest wish and at the same time My gift to you. I bless you, your families, all those who are with you. Consider that they are all My children who are meant to come home, and that it is you who are to help with this effort.

So receive the light from the heavens, which I now increase in you, so that the Holy Night can truly be Christmas for you.

Go in peace and carry the love, My blessing, and My light forth into this world, to My creation, to My children!

Amen.

Farewell Words

We say good-bye, and as a sign of our deep connection with our Heavenly FATHER, we place our right hand upon our hearts and bow to Him in humility, to Him Who is born within us and will be born in us again and again.

The love, the peace, and the blessing of the LORD are in and with us. We are in His spirit. God bless and a blessed season!

In our hearts we are connected, and in the Holy Night we will feel how near we all are to the heart of the FATHER.

 To all of you a blessed and light-filled Christmas!
